THE FREE DISPENSARY

Report Made by Superintendent Rev. Arthur B. Sharp Creates Interest.

A WIDE FIELD FOR LABOR

Material Aid Offered Along With Spiritual Comfort—Its Methods.

The annual report to the Virginia Conference Monday of the Methodist Institute for Christian Work in this city created more interest in the assembly than any other report read, and Rev. Arthur B. Sharp, the superintendent, received congratulations on all sides. The report was as follows:

"The building and plant, which are today worth $16,000, belong to the United Methodist of the two Richmond districts, incorporated as the Richmond Methodist Mission Association. The work undertaken there is unique, in class by itself, at least as far as this conference is concerned.

"Originally entered in humble imitation of Him who came to seek and to save that which was lost, to carry the gospel to a class seldom reached by ordinary church methods, the aim and end of every undertaking has been to save souls.

"The varied needs of the large majority of those who knock at our doors, however, has necessitated the use of many material methods, whose increasing weight necessarily hinders the present small force from paying full attention and giving full time to purely spiritual work. It is, of course, understood that the material is regarded only as a means to the end and not an end in itself, which is kept prominently and continually in the minds of those who come within our gates.

"The support of the institution, outside of the gift made by the conference mission board, is undertaken by the Methodist churches of the city of Richmond. Each contributing church has a representative on the board of control, who, with an ex-officio representative of the church extension society, occupy a relation to the superintendent similar to that of an official board to the pastor. This board meets in regular monthly sessions to receive reports from the various departments, to supervise and audit accounts, and in general to oversee and direct the progress of the work. All the work of the superintendent is subject to their approval and endorsement.

"The work among women and children is looked after by a body of ladies, representing every church, and known as the board of visitors. There is also a ladies' free dispensary auxiliary, to whom has been especially committed the care of the sick and the provision of doctors and medicines.

"The work engaged in cannot be tabulated in the columns customarily used in our annual conference reports, but some idea of its character and scope can be gained from the following figures and facts:

"Since last conference, by actual count taken from records which are carefully kept, I report that the following has been accomplished:
